

Bagels

One day a jogger ran past a roadside vendor selling bagels for 50¢. The next day he dropped 50¢ in the vendor's basket as he ran past the roadside stand. The jogger did this the next day and the next, and continued doing it for months.

One day the vendor stepped out and motioned for the jogger to stop. The jogger did so and asked, "I'll bet you're wondering why I run past, drop the money in and never take a bagel, aren't you?"

The vendor replied, "No, I just wanted to tell you bagels have gone up to 60¢!"